

The Map of a Hand

Finger Prints – imprinted 5 months before birth - are the blueprint of your unique potential. They also reveal the challenges you may face on the journey to unlocking this potential.

Fingers reveal your public behaviors and how you have responded to stress and success over time.

The Heartline reveals your emotional communication style. Are you emotive, private, considerate...? (It is not about who you will marry!)

Thumbs describe how you get things done, your willpower, your decision-making abilities and how you manifest results.

The Headline reveals how you take in and process information. Are you more analytical or intuitive?

The Fate Line is about your purpose over time; how you move toward your goals; how early influences and present day forces direct your career and life choices.

Your Lifeline says something about family issues (your “roots”) and your basic sense of being grounded and secure. (It does not predict how long you will live!)

The lines in general show your conscious and unconscious motivations and the patterns and habits of your personality.

The shape and size of your palm is the foundation of your personality. The color is a measure of your success in getting what you want.
